Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Huey Long, senator and blatherskate, reviles the President. In Germany the blood purge would get Huey. In Italy he would languish on a hot island in the Mediterranean, at least, until Mussolini had passed on. In this country he will pay no penalty. As senator the law makes him free to conduct himself as a blatherskate. He cannot suffer the odium of public opinion turned against him, because his thick hide is insensitive to shame pointing fingers. In time, however, his own state of Louisiana will take revenge upon this filthy demagogue for having humiliated a splendid people and a fine state. But it will be a long time before the stench of a kingfish cast up politically on the banks of the Mississippi will abate in the memory of this generation.

Piracy on the high seas! A gambling barge anchored off Long Beach outside the three mile limit, was raided early Sunday morning by robbers, who, the master gambler estimates, carried away $32,000 in cash and jewels. The barge was outside the jurisdiction of California law and Long Beach ordinance, but not outside the long reach of Uncle Sam. Federal authorities are on the trail of the free booters. It almost makes one believe there is a sea serpent in Loch Ness.

President Roosevelt expects to make a trip to the Pacific Coast when Congress adjourns. He wants to see the San Diego Exposition. He will receive a loyal and hearty welcome in California. Senators McAdoo and Johnson are both good friends of the President and undoubtedly they will do all in their power to extend his visit over as much of California as the President can spare time to see. It would be an interesting experience for the President and for the people of Nevada County if he could be induced to spend a few hours in the nation's chief gold producing section. We suggest that the Chamber of Commerce write now to Congressman Harry Englebright to see if the President's itinerary cannot be made to include the district that his action in elevating the gold price, has enormously benefited.

As a mining man and engineer, who, in Nevada County placed his feet on the bottom rung of the ladder to fame, former President Hoover will always command the respect and affection of this city and the Mother Lode country. But President Roosevelt will be remembered in this county with greatest gratitude. For it was he who enlarged the profitable scope of gold mining as no other President has done in American history. Compared with the multitudes President Roosevelt will meet and talk to on his western trip, Nevada County holds but a mere handful of people. Yet if he has not grown tired of ovations the people of this section can give him one from a sincere heart.

Have you noticed that the waters of Deer Creek are almost clear? That this stream is gradually being returned to something near its original condition of sparkling beauty? This is due to a new process adopted by the management of the Murchie mine. Slickings are being eliminated before the water from the mill is discharged into the creek.

Last issue the Nugget printed an editorial headed "Unconstitutional." Which reminds us of a Horace Greely legend. In those handset days, Horace Greely had a pet compositor. A man who had grown old in newspaper game with the great Greeley. He alone of all the big force of printers could discipher the Greeley writing. The rest of the force, during a noon hour put up a little joke on the venerable favorite of the front office. They brought in two game cocks, spread a carpet of copy in reglation sheets on the floor, dipped the feet of the birds in ink and set them to battle over the blank sheets of copy paper. For a good half hour the birds fought, and finally came to a clinch which left a snarly tangle of feet imprints on the paper. The jesters then gathered up the paper, carefully numbered the sheets and laid them on the composing bench of the old printer. He returned from lunch, picked up the copy and slowly began to set up the editorial. Finally he came to the sheet over which the two cocks had had their bitterest tangle. For sometime the old compositor studied this chicken made hieroglyphic, finally gave it up and took it into the Presence. The great Greeley looked at it and exploded: "Unconstitutional! You must be one of these —— damned ignorant college graduates!

ARTHUR HILLMAN IS VISITOR TO OLD HOME

Arthur Hillman, professor in the University of Washington, at Seattle, six feet and five inches tall, yesterday visited his old home on Long street, which he left when a baby, 25 years ago.

Professor Hillman is the son of Mr. Ed Hillman, formerly well-known throughout Nevada and Yuba counties as a mining man, and the late Mrs. Mary Hillman. Following the death of his mother, he and his sister were cared for by an aunt, Mrs. Sophia Dahl. While here he visited his mother's grave in Pine Grove cemetery.

YOUNG HUSBAND SEARCHES FOR MISSING WIFE

John Cameron, who has been employed for the last six weeks at the Brush Creek mine north of Nevada City, was in Nevada City up to a late hour last night looking for his wife, who has disappeared.

Mrs. Tonie Cameron, came down from the mine with a Mrs. Burns on Friday, July 5th and had an appointment with a dentist in Grass Valley but she did not appear at the dentists.

Friday evening when she did not return to the mine Mr. Cameron came to town and tried to find her, but he returned home late that night without her. He came in Wednesday and continued his search. He has heard of her being seen by several people in Nevada City who say she is usually alone and as if she were in a daze. He has notified all officers to be on the lookout for her and is nearly distracted over her disappearance.

His description of his wife is as follows: She is aged 20 years, five feet tall, weighs 160 pounds, has dak red hair. When leaving home she wore a white sports jacket, black dress, and pair of low heeled white shoes and carried $16, all the money they possessed.

The young man is leaving for Reno, Nevada today to continue his search. Anyone having any information of her please write to Mr. John Cameron, general delivery, Reno, Nevada, and it will be thankfully received. He stated he will not give up his search until he finds her.

Englebright Asked to Speak at San Juan Ridge Two-Day Fiesta

Congressman Harry L. Englebright has been asked to make the oration on the occasion of San Juan Ridge Fiesta which will take place August 17 and 18, under the auspices of the San Juan Ridge Improvement League. The congressman is popular throughout the gold mining sections of California, and the Ridge folks are now watching Congress in the hope that it will adjourn in time to permit Congressman Englebright to return and make the chief address at their celebration.

Plans for the new Ridge community house at San Juan are progressing and it is expected that it will be constructed in plenty of time for the dances, plays, minstrel show and other entertainment which will feature San Juan Ridge Fiesta.

Christian Anderson, general manager of the program, states that several charming and talented girls have already indicated that they will be candidates for queen of the fiesta. Arrangements are now being made for a spirited contest.

It is expected that hundreds of former residents of the communities along the Ridge, such towns as French Corral, North San Juan, Birchville, Sweetland, Columbia and Bloomfield, will return during the fiesta to join in the festivities and renew old friendships.

FISHERMEN DISCOVER FROZEN SIERRA LAKES

William C. Fouyer, traffic officer, Charles Leiter and son, Shattuck, and Tom Riley went on a long fishing trip Wednesday back beyond Grouse Ridge in eastern Nevada County in the Tahoe National forest. They motored out by Bear Valley turning in 14 miles above Fuller Lake as they were going to a tiny lake at the 9,000 foot elevation. Snow was soon encountered and it was hard going in places. When they arrived they found the lake frozen over and on the shady side of the lake the snow was eight to ten feet deep. It was bitter cold. Mr. Fouyer stated that in cuts in the mountains drifts of snow were 12 feet deep. He also said several lakes further on were frozen over and one would probably not be thawed out until the middle of August.

JUDGE DENIES PLACER MINERS VENUE CHANGE

AUBURN, July 11. — Superior Judge Ernest Weyand of Colusa county, sitting on the Placer bench late this morning, denied hydraulic mining operators of the Bear River water shed a change of venue on one ground in the $500,000 damage suit instituted by the Pacific Gas and Electric company over the alleged pollution of the water of the Bear River.

The claim that the voluntary disqualification of Superior Judge J. B. Landis automatically creates a situation where a change of venue was mandatory was denied.

Judge Weyand then ordered arguments to be continued on the ground that a fair and impartial trial of the action is impossible in Placer county because of prejudice against muddy water alleged to be served by the P. G. & E. company to domestic users.

Judge Weyand requested a map of Placer county be brought to the courtroom for inspection to determine the area in which the prejudice is alleged to exist.

In the estate of James Flynn, the hearing on petition for distribution was continued to July 19. Petitions for letters of administration in the estates of William Avery and Marie E. Rosenthal were granted. The petition for letters of administration in the estate of Anrrew B. Haughland was continued until September 6. Petition for probate of will in the estate of John Manzalini was confirmed. Petition for partial distribution in the estate of William H. Towne was granted.

Hearing on the demurrer in the case of Wernse vs. Dorsey was continued to July 19. Motion to strike out demurrer in the case of Adams vs. Field was granted with permission to amend answer. A demurrer in the case of D. & H. Commercial Co. vs. Toge was overruled.

In the case of R. C. Martens vs. C. B. Merriam, trial was set for September 12 at 10 a. m. Trial in the case of R. E. Nobles vs. You Bet Mining Co. was set for September 14.

The case of the People vs. Paul James, accused of rape, was dismissed owing to the fact that the guardian of the girl, alleged injured, had taken her out of the jurisdiction of the court. Judge Tuttle issued a bench warrant for the arrest of the missing woman.

PLANS FOR CARNIVAL AT RED MEN'S GROVE

Banner Mountain Post. V. F. W. is making plans for a big public carnival, dance and barbecue to be held on August 11th in Red Men's Grove in Nevada City. More definite news of this big affair will be given from time to time in the Nugget.

At the Post's joint meeting and basket social last evening two candidates were initiated into the order. Past District Commander Fred Boyle and mother of Sacramento motored up for the affair last evening. The two new members now bring the post membership to 47.

Miss Mary Collins of San Francisco is spending this week as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jackson, Jr., of this city.

BLOOD TEST TO DISCOVER TRUTH

For the first time in this county a blood test will be made to determine the paternity of the boy whose putative father declares is not his son. James Liva is charged with failure to provide for a four year old child. He denies his paternity.

By stipulation between District Attorney Vernon Stoll and Attorney W. E. Wright, who represents the defendant, Judge Raglan Tuttle has ordered a test to be made of the child's blood. On it will depend the guilt or innocense of Liva. The two attorneys are to agree upon an expert to make the test, and this person, subject to approval of the court will be appointed.

Mrs. June Liva, mother of the boy, is divorced from James Liva. A wedding license was obtained by the couple in 1927. They were divorced in April, 1929. They resumed marital relations, however, shortly after the divorce and continued to live together until October, 1934.

Legislature Was Good To All Save Taxpayers

(By RALPH H. TAYLOR)

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles by Ralph H. Taylor, farm leader and recognized authority on the problems of state government, analyzing the work of the 1935 State Legislature as it affects both the farmer and the general public.

Playing the Good Samaritan to nearly everyone but the taxpayer, the 1935 State Legislature undoubtedly earned a niche in the state's hall of fame as the most socially-minded session since the days when Hiram W. Johnson came to Sacramento with his stormy crusade for a new order of social justice and a new birth of popular government.

But there was this striking difference between the two: Hiram Johnson's crusade, regardless of political differences, called for a well ordered, carefully planned, coordinated program—with well defined objectives. And the 1935 session—in sharp contrast—gave birth to new measures and new programs almost daily, with widely divergent, but equally zealous factions, pounding relentlessly for recognition of their own particular panaceas and just as relentlessly demanding the death of all others.

Out of the legislative whirlpool quite naturally, saw a confusion of remedial bills for the people's ills—many still-born; others enacted, with a complete disregard for conflicting measures previously enacted, and still others — after many months of pow-wow—finally whipped into workable statutes.

MEANINGLESS GESTURE

The lawmakers, for example, somberly memorialized Congress to enact the Townsend Old Age Pension Plan — something they didn't mean, and which didn't mean anything! Still socially minded, they exempted essential foodstuffs from the sales tax. And then—hopping aboard another social reform issue—they voted for the chain store

SCOUTS, 65 OF 'EM, AT PAHATSI

The first week of Scout Camp for 1935 opened Sunday with 65 scouts in camp. Eight of these scouts are acting as patrol leaders. They are: Robert Hanson, Loomis, Eric Beckerleg, Wm. Perry, Harry Twitchell and Bob Keeney of Grass Valley, Bill Furlong, Auburn; John Korff, Lincoln, Clem Organ, Nevada City.

This year's staff consists of the following: Harris Ricksecker, camp director, Sam Partridge, assistant camp director, in charge of camp program, camp hikes, patrol hikes, and games. Fred Stephen, assistant director in charge of handicraft, office and court of honor. Milo Tally assistant director in charge of the waterfront, swimming, life saving, boating and fire chief. Jack Schultz, camp mechanic and truck driver. Ken Schultz and Ray Wilde are mess officers, in charge of the kitchen; Mrs. Dalby of Auburn is again this year camp cook. Jack Gordon in charge of store and canteen; Bill Cluff tent inspection and test passing; Ralph Mallery, campfire leader and swimming assistant; Bob Robinson nature leader. M. S. Early Monday morning a few of the older scouts left on a 5-day hike to the Royal Gorge of the American river. Mr. M. S. Beecher is in charge of the 5-day hikes. They will return to camp Friday. They expect to do considerable fishing on this trip. They are also going to make a copy of Indian hieroglyphics on rocks in that region and will try to decipher them. They are travelling in some new country that was not covered in the last Gorge trip last year.

The patrol that earns the most advancements during the week and has the most scouts up for advancement at the Court of Honor will be awarded a trip to the weather bureau station on the Donner summit which gives weather reports to the airplanes. To the patrol that earns the most camp hat honors will be given the opportunity to visit the inter-locking plant at Nordon which controls the Southern Pacific trains from Colfax to Reno.

With the beginning of scout camp the weather has turned warmer and is like past years.

JUDGE McMAHON TO SIT IN SUIT AGAINST MINERS

Following the disqualification of Judge J. B. Landis of Placer county and of Judge Dal Lemon of Sacramento county to try the half million dollar injunction suit brought by the Pacific Gas & Electric company against a group of placer miners along Bear River, Judge J. M. McMahon of Sierra county has been named to preside at the trial by the state judicial council.

William Maguire, administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Anna Skeahan, through his attorney, James F. Peck, has filed an answer to the suit brought by the P. G. & E. Maguire alleges that the responsibility for muddy water in the Bear River rests with the P. G. & E.

Most Criminals Not Subnormal

(Contributed)

In many cases the only difference between the criminal and the successful man of affairs is that the latter finds it possible to satisfy his natural craving for material comforts without resorting to crime.

This, in spirit is the opinion of Dr. Olga Bridgman, professor of pediatries at the University of California, presented in a discussion of "Crime as a Biological Reaction," which has just been published by the University Press as one of fifteen "Essays in Social Economics," in honor of Dr. Jessica Peixotto, retiring professor of social economics.

Dr. Bridgman says in part: "The majority of criminals have been shown to be no more incompetent or unbalanced in the capacity for controlling ordinary impulses and effecting conscious adaption than are many persons who are included in the great average group. Such peculiarities as can be demonstrated in the majority of criminals are peculiarities common to most persons and do not in themselves account for criminal behavior. In the last analysis, it must be granted that the criminal is an ordinary individual struggling both consciously and without conscious understanding of his motives for the things which seem to him vital for his comfortable existence. Failing to achieve such a satisfaction, and failing to understand or accept the conditions which have produced his unsatisfactory state, he develops, quite logically, an aggressive and predatory attitude and simultaneously takes what he can and retaliates against a society which seems to have caused his continual failure. If he were able to limit his desires and needs to his capacity for satisfying them, he would probably not be a criminal.

"Criminals have the same blind, driving impulses and in large part the same values as are important for non-criminal persons. That their ideas of comfort and security are not proportional to their capacities for attaining these ends is in large measure the fault of the social order. Without doubt, there are many persons living in high places who would respond to interference by criminal means if necessary, whose ability to forego material satisfactions and to inhibit aggressive or vengeful impulses is no greater than that of many criminals, but whose lines have fallen into pleasant places where the exeercise of control and adaption concerns only matter of minor importance.

"If a millennium ever arrives in which the greatest imagined good comes to mean a triumphant domination of mind, not only over the external environment, but over primitive impulses as well, there will be no place for crime that constitutes a reaction against social repression." Until then, Dr. Bridgman adds: "Only a long, careful training in subordinating the individual to the group will be effective in producing consistent amenability to the social will." This training, of course, primarily involves child environment.

BOOK CHATS

(By ABIGAIL J. STACKPOLE)

Here are two more delightful books. "The Spanish Twins" and "The Pickaninny Twins" by that prolific writer about little folk in all parts of the world, Lucy Fitch Perkins.

Chuckles, thrills, and shivers are in store for the reader of the first book. This is about eleven year old Carlos and Felipe, who are as much alike as two peas in a pod, and who delight in teasing their aunt, "Tia Maria" which, of course, is Spanish for Aunt Mary. They live in rural Spain, where Tia Maria is proprietress of an old inn called "The Crown and the Castle."

From this inn one morning just at daybreak the twins slip away, fearful lest their aunt discover the loss of her rooster, Don Belicoso. The boys are not quite brave enough to tell the old lady that her rooster was killed in a cock fight. And when Tia Maria finds Don Belicoso gone, and also her donkey, she is convinced that her nephews are the culprits. Los malos! los cucarachos! she calls them; meaning they are bad boys, and cockroaches.

The youngsters, ignorant of the disappearance of the donkey, find it in the possession of robber gypsies. The bravery of the twins, and their contact with El Captan of the police, combine in bringing to a climax this fascinating story.

"The Pickaninny Twins" might have been written by Mark Twain, so replete is the yarn with pathos and side splitting mirth. Indeed, these five year old darkies, Sampson and Deliah, might have been Mark's own brain chillun.

Mammy Jinny works at the big house, leaving her "twinsies" in the care of her eight year old progeny. Job. And Job's one ambition in life is to see dem chillun git one good lickin.' The twins run away, and poor Job is looking for them.

"He wondered if there were any twins in heaven, and he thought if there were it could never be looked forward to as a place of rest."

The rat, the cat, the chickens, the dog, Mammy Jinny's clothes basket, the junk man and his mule, Misery, and a fishing expedition all play important parts in the lives of these little colored children.

Both books are charmingly illustrated by the author. The binding is beautifully done, and the print is large and readable. These are a special School Edition published by Houghton Mifflin at the very low price of 88 cents each.

LIGHTED CIGARETTE LOST FOUND IN POCKET

Mr. Arthur Dolan, San Francisco poliseman here on a month's vacation with his brother J. F. Dolan, has a good joke to tell on himself. Tuesday he took a sick neighbor's new roadster to a garage for servicing. He was smoking a cigarette in a long holder. As he backed the car into the garage upon his return the cigarette disappeared. He stopped the car, took out the robe, and cushions, and searched everywhere. He could smell the smoke continuously. The car owner's wife came out to assist and Mr. Dolan even got down and looked all over the ground and under the car, almost giving up in despair, he raised up. The neighbor exclaimed: "Why Artie, your pocket is on fire!" The ciragette had fallen from his holder into his shirt pocket on a package of cigarettes and two penny boxes of matches. They did not burn, but Mr. Dolan had a hole in his nice white shirt and most of his pocket burned away.

YOUNGER PUPILS DO BEST WORK IN UNIVERSITY

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—So-called "under age" pupils in high school and university earn more scholastic honors, get placed on the football team oftener and have better chances of marrying than their older classmates, it is indicated by a series of investigations reported by Professor Noel Keys of the University of California, before a meeting of the Western Psychological Association today. In addition, these younger pupils appear to be very much at home among their older classmates.

In the study, over 100 pupils graduating from the Oakland high schools from one to three years younger than the normal age, were compared with others of the same sex, intelligence and school class who had progressed through school at only the ordinary rate. In general, the younger graduates showed to better advantage than their older and equally bright classmates.

Another study of 348 students entering the University of California from 1922 to 1930 under sixteen and and half years of age, points to the same conclusions. The "under age" group, both boys and girls, were outstanding in academic distinction, yet enjoyed their full share of student activities. Differences between the young and normal age groups were particularly marked with respect to length of stay in college and prospects of marriage T.he chances of getting six or more years of higher education appear almost twice as good for the younger entrants as for the average freshman. At the same time the percentage of girls who marry by the age of 25 is half again as great in the case of those who enter under sixteen and a half.

The great majority rated their college experience as happy or satisfactory from all standpoints. In the judgment of these students and their classmates, early entrance to university in the case of the very bright is either desirable or as likely to work well as ill, depending on the individual personality. "All in all," concluded Professor Keys, "there is every indication that the policy of rapid promotion could be employed much more widely and at the same time more wisely than at present."

GRASS VALLEY PLAYS CARDS FOR BOY SCOUTS

There will be a lot of card playing in Grass Valley Wednesday night, all for the benefit of four boy scouts who have been chosen to attend the National Scout Jamboree in Washington, D. C. Earl Covey, chairman of the Jamboree committee states that in front of every business house, on the side walk, he expects to see one or more tables engaged in some kind of card game, rummy, whist, auction or contract bridge, or pedro.

At private homes there are to be lawn parties and more card games. In Memorial hall and in the lodge rooms there will be earnest contenders for bridge or whist honors. Seats at any card table will cost 25 cents, and Covey states that he expects fully four hundred tables to be extremely busy Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Farley spent the Fourth and the week end on a short vacation at Tahoe City as guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Joyner.

GOATS, SHEEP AND CATTLE ALL WORK FOR HENRY FORD

The two millionth Ford V-8 arrived at America's Exposition, Balboa Park, San Diego, last Sunday. It rolled off the assembly line at the Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant at Dearborn, Michigan on June 13 to be driven on an exhibition tour across the country. Upon its arrival in San Diego it was placed on display at the Ford Exposition building.

To carry out this program of car manufacturing, more than 3,200,000 pounds of wool, the product of approximately 800,000 sheep, will be required. Some 30,000 cattle will be needed to furnish 1,500,00 square feet of leather for upholstery in addition to production of glues from both hides and milk, stearic acid, greases, glycerine, and soap chips. Goats' hair to the amount of 350,000 pounds will be required, representing the shearings of 87,500 goats.

The Ford Motor Company will require, this year for its one million car program, 69,000,000 pounds of cotton or the yield of about 433,000 acres. Every Fordor sedan uses more than 70 pounds of cotton.

In addition to these farm grown products, millions of pounds of iron, steel, coal and coke, millions of cubic feet of gas and other raw materials will be consumed to make 1,000,000 Ford V-8s before the end of 1935.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guenther of Los Angeles arrived in Nevada City Wednesday evening to spend a few days with Mr. Guenther's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guenther of this city. Mr. Charles Guenther is showing much improvement in his serious illness.

MAURICE PHOTOGRAPHER SCOUTS RUMOR OF OUTSIDE SALESMEN

An impression has been broadcast especially through the mountain areas of this section, that Maurice Photographer has sponsored solicitors, salesmen and canvassers. This, a rumor is erroneous. Maurice Photographer has no one working for his establishment in an outside sales or promotional capacity. Neither does this firm have any connection with transient or "fly-by-night" photographers who are "here today and gone tomorrow."

Maurice Photographer takes pride in the high quality of photographic work, all of which is offered on a basis of quality, prompt service and reasonable prices. Whether it be portrait work, enlarging or kodak finishing, you are sure to be more than well pleased with the results. Satisfaction is guaranteed

With the outdoor season at hand, it is a certainty that many excellent snapshots will be taken There will be favored scenes and action pictures of friends and family members.

Why not have enlargements made? You will be more than glad you did in years to come. It costs but a little and Maurice Photogapher enlarges in a variety of sizes. Patronize your home photographer and merchants.—Adv.

TUNA ROAM SEAS, WEARING TAGS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Nearly five hundred tuna are roaming the Pacific, wondering why they are bearing a metal tag in their gill covers. Sportsmen who tangle with one of the gamy fighters, may wonder too, but when they come to examine the tag they will learn that it was placed there through the medium of the Division of Fish and Game, Department of Nattural Resources.

Most of these fish were taken, tagged and liberated off the coast of Costa Rica; the remainder were tagged over an extensive area reaching from Lower California to Panama. In addition to the ttuna, ninety-eight skipjack were tagged and set free.

H. C. Godsil, member of the State Fisheries Laboratory staff, was in charge of the work, the program for which was laid out by the Division of Fish and Game. He sailed on the tuna clipper "Reliance" which left San Pedro April 21 and was gone eight weeks. Godsil made the trip to study the habits and migrations of tuna. Good fishing was not encountered until the craft reached Costa Rica, 3,000 miles from the home port. The majority of the fish handled were small, averaging less than three pounds, or 26 inches in length, although a few large fish were tagged.

The tag consists of a sterling silver strap, half-inch wide, and this holds in place a red celluloid disc half an inch in diameter. On one side of the disc is the address of the Division of Fish and Game, with the request that the recovered tag be returned to the Division. The reverse bears a serial number with information as to time and place of release. Data sent in after the fish is recaptured will do much to complete the history of the tuna's migrations.

Letters are being sent to tuna fishermen asking them to look out for tags and requesting that the locality of capture and data be reached for the State Fisheries Laboratory.

From Aunt Sarah

We don't want anything too hearty for the noon meal these summer days but often more than the cold salad etc. are greatly relished A cheese souffle is just the thing to center the lunch around. There are souffles and souffles, but this is The Cheese Souffle that you have been waiting for.

CHEESE SOUFFLE

2 tablespoons flour.
2 tablespoons butter.
½ pound grated cheese(fresh, not dry).
4 eggs, separated.
1 pint milk (evaporated milk and water may be used.)

Stir butter and flour in a pan over a low flame until they bubble, add the hot milk, seasoning and add slowly the grated cheese. Remove from fire. Add beaten egg yolks, stir, cool. Add beaten egg whites, stir all together thoroughly. Place in casserole and bake in a moderate oven. (About 325 degrees.) for one hour until set like a custard. Serve at once. Serves six.

SHELLFISH POISONING

Shellfish posoning is not caused by polluted waters but by microscopic animal organisms, according to the Hooper Foundation of the University of California. Boiling in bicarbonate of soda breaks down the poison destroys the flavor of the fish; the white meat alone always is safe. But the best method of preventing poisoning is to keep away from the suspected shellfish, it is warned.

Mrs. Lily Price and six months old son returned to Oakland Saturday after a two weeks vacation spent in Nevada City with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Netz. Mrs. Netz accompanied her to the bay district for the week end returning home Sunday evening.

"Were you nervous the first time you asked your husband for money?"
"No, I was calm—and collected."

PETITION TO DETERMINE HEIRS

Evidence was heard on a petition to determine the heirs of the late Philip Richards by Judge Tuttle yesterday. P. Richards died many years ago in Nevada City and left property here. R. McLeod and P. J. Conway testified for the petitioners. E. H. Armstrong appeared for the petitioners and W. E. Wright for the Richards estate.

NEW NEON SIGN

Scheemer and Langman, of the Plaza Grocery, have had an electric Neon sign 9 by 5 feet installed at their store at the corner of Sacramento and the Plaza.

This blazing sign lights up their fine display of groceries and glassware at night and is a decided improvement for that section of Nevada City. It fills the Plaza with its bright glow, also, and the company is to be congratulated for their modern improvement.

A Glimpse of Building Activity

VOL. 1. JULY 12, 1935. No. 14.

In order further to improve our service to our customers we are placing in use another new lumber truck equipped with rollers for quick pickup and unloading. The new truck will start Monday.

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank George, on the Grass Valley-Marysville highway, is under construction with Bob Hathaway in charge of the work. A brick exterior and all the latest interior installations will make this a very fine home.

We have in stock a very fine lot of vertical grain redwood shingles. These shingles will make a long lasting, good looking roof on any house. Should be applied with galvanized nails.

Plastering contractor Cutler has the plastering on the new home being constructed for Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hiscox, on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway. Howard Ross is the general contractor on this new home.

We are the local agents for lime made by the Auburn Chemical Lime Co. and our stock of lime is kept fresh by ordering in small quantities. We can supply lime for any purpose.

A new maple tongue and groove floor is being laid at the Nevada City Community Building in the park. This will make a perfect floor for any use and is particularly adapted for dancing.

In these days, when the so-called "go-getters" are so popular, the following short story comes in handy.

A steamship company wired the captain of one of its ships:

"Move heaven and earth and get here Friday."

Very promptly the capitain wired back:

"Raised Hell and will get there Thursday."

California

Nature's heart rejoicing,
Birds in plumage gay,
Rosy dawnlight smiling
Through rifted clouds of grey;
Golden poppies waking
At the sun's behest,
And this is California,
Our homeland of the west.

Winds of dour November,
Dead leaves swirling by,
Copious showers falling
From a lowering sky;
Green grass softly creeping
Over earth's brown breast,
And this, my lads and lassies,
Is winter in the west.

Tapestries of color
Over hill and down,
Wilful breezes playing
All about the town;
Trees in fairy raiment,
Wild geese on the wing,
And this, my lads and lassies,
Is California spring.

Poppy fields and forests,
Lakes and babbling streams;
Realms where romance lingers,
Trails where memory dreams;
Shores of magic beauty,
Towering, snow crowned crest,
And this is California,
Our homeland of the west.

Enclose the garden with a neat, well painted picket fence, supply it with conveniently placed board walks, make trellaces for the running vines, see that the flowers have suitable supports.

We can supply building necessities from foundation to roof. It is our desire to please, and when we fail we want you to tell us and we will make good.

Your demands will receive our courteous attention. Come in and get acquainted.

ADVENTURE AND ROMANCE AT THE NEVADA THEATRE

Friday night brings to the Nevada Theatre an excellent adventure film "Fighting Shadows" with Tim McCoy and Geneva Mitchell. As Tim O'Hara, a brawny "Mountie," McCoy is assigned to investigate the machinations of a ruthless band of fur-raiders who are terrorizing trappers of the Indian River country. The last time Tim was in that territory he had run into difficulties with Brad Harrison, the brother of Martha, the girl he loves. Brad still believes the trooper stole a certain silver fox, and is his worst enemy.

When Tim arrives on the scene to see justice done, he is hampered by Harrison. Determinedly overcoming the obstacles presented by the dangerous mission, the "Mountie" follows the culprits until he apprehends them and solves the mystery that has surrounded the case. Geneva Mitchell, Ward Bond, Robert Allen, Si Jenks, Otto Hoffman and Edward Lesaint play supporting roles. David Selman directed from a story and screen play by Ford Beebe.

Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell star in "Travelling Saleslady", which comes to the Nevada Theatre Satrday night. "Traveling Saleslady" is an up to date story of a young girl, who refused an opportunity to enter the business office of her father, a toothpaste manufacturer, who has become fossilized, signs with his rival to sell cocktail flavors, an idea submitted to her by an inebriated inventor.

Joan Blondell has the title role with William Gargan as the star salesman. Glenda Farrell is the other side of the triangular love affair.

Others in the cast include Hugh Herbert, the inebriated inventor, Grant Mitchell, as the conservative manufacturer, and Al Shean, his more modern rival.

Franchot Tone and Una Merkel come to the Nevada Theatre Sunday night starred in "One New York Night." This picture is replete with thrills and laughs. The story concerns a mysterious murder in a hostelry where several guests from various walks of life become involved in the crime.

Franchot Tone, is seen as a cowman from Wyoming who comes to the big city to get married. Miss Merkel, who played the role of a telephone operator, joins the cowman in an attempt to solve the murder and clear themselves of suspicion. How they eventually apprehend the criminal and find romance together provides many dramatic thrills as well as amusing incidents.

EARLY TOWNSITE TO YIELD GOLD

DOWNIEVILLE, July 11.—The Gibsonville Townsite Gold Mines Inc., has commenced recovery of gold from gravel deposits underlying the historic townsite of Gibsonville. Tests of the acreage are said to indicate high gold averages, with some of the gravel on bedrock sampling up to $250 per cubic yard.

The property embraces the old townsite, which was unworked in pioneer days when Gibsonville was a roaring camp of more than 2,000 people. A complete plant of placer-mining machinery has been installed, sluices provided and an ample water supply developed.

The management reports twenty-four ounces of gold were recovered in the first two days of operation, including a small nugget. Chinese and other coins, bullets, cartridges and buckshot were also taken from the sluice boxes. The property is adjacent to placer mines credited with yielding more than $10,000,000 in the early years of California mining. Many of them were profitably worked by Chinese after white miners left the district.

LIQUOR LAW VIOLATOR GUILTY ON 3 COUNTS

Richard Joseph, of the Pastime Club room and restaurant of Truckee, was arrested Sunday for alleged violation of the state liquor laws, on five counts. He pled guilty to three and will be sentenced Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the court of Judge C. E. Smith in Truckee. Arresting officers were Russell B. Farley, Nevada county liquor enforcement officer, R. L. Joyner, who holds the same position in Placer county, and H. N. Hobart, federal officer.

LEGISLATURE WAS GOOD TO ALL SAVE TAXPAYERS

On the major social issue of the session—the question of work-relief to aid the jobless—the legislators shifted responsibility to the people, proposing a $13,950,000 public building bond issue which will be voted on by the electors at a special state election on August 13th.

The proposed bond issue, if it wins approval of the voters, will result in construction of a new state's prison for first offenders in Southern California. It will also provide for other prison buildings, for additions to state hospitals and asylums and for state building extensions in both Sacramento and Los Angeles. And of almost equal importance, voter-okay of the bond issue will enable the state to petition the federal government for $10,000,000 additional in work relief funds.

MINIMUM PENSION $20

When it came to a question of spending state funds for old age pensions, the Legislature remained fairly conservative, pushing aside the $200 per month Townsend dole and merely dropping the age reequirements for a state pension from 70 years to 65 years. The minimum pension is $20 per month.

Again playing safe, the lawmakers approved an unemployment insurance bill—but a bill conditional on similar federal legislation. The act would establish a reserve fund to which employers would contribute 3 per cent of their payrolls and employees 1 per cent of their paychecks. Beginning in 1938, employees losing their jobs through no fault of their own would be entitled to benefit payment of from $7 to $15 per week for 13 weeks after a waiting period of four weeks. Agricultural workers, domestic workers and public employees do not come under the provisions of either the State or Federal measures.

APPROVED NRA

Dealing with other social issues, the Legislature voted approval of a "little NRA bill" for service trades, including barbers, beauty operators, cleaning and dyeing businesses, automotive and laundry workers. Codes of fair competition would be placed in effect on petition of 80 per cent of a business or industry in any district.

Then, protecting the prospective bride and groom from the gaming tables of Reno, Tia Juana and waypoints, the lawmakers voted to repeal California's so-called "gin marriage law," which provided for a three day wait between application and issuance of marriage licenses. Another consideration in repealing the hop-or-hobble marriage act was the fact that California jewelers, ministers, hotel keepers, et cetera, were losing business to their rivals in adjoining states.

But then—forgetting their liberalism for a new conservatism—the legislators refused passage of a bill which would have outlawed heartbalm, breach-of-promise and other suits verging on romantic racketeering. As the matter stands, gentlemen will still pay in California, unless they suddenly develop new caution and new resistance to the wiles of their companions of the evening.

KANSAS WOMAN SEES NUGGET ADVERTISEMENT SEEKS HOME HERE

The Nevada City Nugget finds interesting readers in many parts of the United States and in foreign countries. Here is a letter received by the Builders Supply House from a woman in Laurence, Kansas. Under date of July 7, 1935, she writes:

Gentlemen:

I am about to sell my little home here and have before me the Nevada City Nugget and your ad.

I wish to locate there if I close the deal. I have a friend there who can look over the situation there, but thought that you might give me some idea of what a small neat little place will cost. I am particular about location — must be in first-class district. Cannot afford much but need conveniences at my age and feel that I want to end my days in your glorious state. How do you heat out there? Must be heated. Do you cook with gas or electricity? Am alone so don't mind very near neighbors. I may have a lady companion. If lumber is cheap, prefer that, if not, stucco.

I must make my selling price here build a home there. Send at your earliest convenience, and I'll have the lady there go and look at it. Of course I might find a home already built, but such small places are usually taken, so I am seeing what I can build on my money.

Sincerely yours,

SIX HOURS PER DAY TO WATER GARDENS

The city council has set the folfowing schedule for irrigation hours:

6:00 a. m. to 9:00 a. m.

5:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m.

The penalty for violation of the regulations is shutting off the water from the offender.

Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Buckner have as house guests their little grandsons, Douglas and Donald Buckner of Oakland, who will be returning home next week after a months vacation spent here.

LOOK OUT FOR BOGUS CURRENCY! WARNING

Watch out for counterfeit bills! Three counterfeit $10 bills appeared in Grass Valley Wednesday. Monday a $20 counterfeit bill and two $10 counterfeits were reported turned into the Bank of America at Marysville and Yuba City.

Mrs. Charles Leiter returned home Tuesday from a ten day vacation spent in Portland, Oregon, where she visited her sister. She had a fine time but it was cold and stormy all the time she was there.
